

MADE FOR More

Sept. 23/24
Start Small
Jason Strand

God created us for more than the daily routine of getting up, going to work or school, running errands, and watching TV. But change doesn't happen overnight. To move toward our purpose, we have to take a lot of small steps. But it's in the daily, tedious steps that breakthroughs are born.

Discussion Questions

1. Jason talked about how the simple act of making his bed in the morning sets him up for success the rest of the day. What is one small decision or habit sets you up for success? What happens when you miss that step?
2. Read Luke 16:10 and 1 Corinthians 4:2. How faithful are you in the little things of life? Share an example of how you've seen small steps of faithfulness yield results in your own life.
3. What person, project, or hobby used to spark joy and excitement in your life—but for whatever reason the spark has died down? How can you bring fresh energy into it this week?
4. What is the one thing you feel God wants you to start doing that will move you toward your purpose? What is the first step you need to take to get things moving?

Challenge

A remarkable life is built by taking a thousand unremarkable steps. So, take that first small step toward your answer in question four—and repeat that step every day this week.

Commit to Memory

"Do not despise these small beginnings, for the Lord rejoices to see the work begin." Zechariah 4:10
